PRESS RELEASE

Aldwicks swing into action for charity

(Aldwickbury Park Golf Club, Harpenden – August 20, 2009) Senior golfers at Aldwickbury Park Golf Club raised more than £1,000 for local charities at their annual charity day.

The Aldwicks, as the seniors are known, put their hands in their pockets to amass £1,300 in aid of two local causes with half going to The Hospice of St Francis and the other to Grove House.

There were 72 men and ladies who played in the competition to raise money, with the purse being split 50-50 between the two charities. There was also more than 15 raffle prizes kindly donated by local businesses.

The winning duo were Simon Strudwick and Jacqueline Merva who came home with a stableford score of 76 points, two shots ahead of Mike Swain and Sue Hattam, in second place.

Simon Folbigg, Aldwickbury Park sales and marketing manger, said: “It was a great day for everyone involved, and once again the Aldwicks did the club proud by raising such a fantastic amount for two very good causes. I’d also like to thank the generous local businesses who happily donated some great raffle prizes too.”
