

Aldwickbury Park
Golf Club

PRESS RELEASE

Double award celebration for Aldwickbury Park Golf Club

Aldwickbury Park Golf Club has been celebrating after scooping two prestigious awards.

General Manager Tristan Hall was named Manager of the Year, while Course Manager Stuart Langhorn was named Greenkeeper of the Year by the Harpenden-based club's owners Burhill Golf & Leisure, the UK's leading golf course owner and operator.

Tristan, 30, joined Aldwickbury Park when it was acquired by Burhill Golf & Leisure in 2006, and oversaw a £¾ million course upgrade to the outstanding 6,352-yard, par 71 Park Course.

Former Ryder Cup star and BBC commentator Ken Brown, who co-designed the original course, visited Aldwickbury Park and was full of praise for the upgrade, saying: "The course has never looked better."

Course Manager Stuart received the best course evaluation across the Burhill Golf & Leisure Group of 10 golf clubs and centres. He was heavily involved in the course upgrade, overseeing the work, upgrading the bunkers and making Aldwickbury Park one of the best courses in the region.

Since 2006 the club has undergone a transformation off the course too, with the clubhouse being totally redecorated and enhanced to accommodate corporate functions and meetings as well as social events like weddings and parties.

Judges highlighted the club's great staff and member relations, saying: "Member and staff relations are extremely strong creating a family and friendly working atmosphere."

Burhill Golf & Leisure Chief Executive, Colin Mayes, said: "Both Tristan and Stuart have excelled in their quest to make Aldwickbury Park Golf Club the best in the region both on and off the course. They fully deserve their awards and everyone involved with Aldwickbury Park can be proud of the work they have all put in."

Tristan added: "It's a huge personal honour to be named General Manager of the Year, but it's an even bigger achievement for the club as a whole to have been honoured at the awards by having both the General and Course Managers of the Year here. Everyone at the club works extremely hard and these rewards are a reflection of that hard work."

ENDS

Picture caption

Aldwickbury Park Golf Club General Manager Tristan Hall (left) and Course Manager Stuart Langhorn (right) with their awards.