Aldwickbury Park members give captain a tribal welcome

Members from Aldwickbury Park Golf Club provided their new captain with a welcome to remember – a tribe of Luhya Warriors.

Incoming captain Tim Fox and Lady Captain Sue Penhale held the traditional captains' drive in at the club in Harpenden last weekend and Tim was given a surprising welcome to the tee as he was greeted by the 'warriors.'

Tim spends a lot of time with the Luhya tribe in Kenya through his work at the YMCA, and received a traditional welcome from fellow members in Luhya tribal dress, as he stepped up to take his first shot as captain. It didn't put him off his stride though as he cracked a drive more than 200 yards down the middle of the fairway.

Not to be outdone, the lady's gave their new captain a rousing reception too as Sue was greeted through a guard of honour made by members with beribboned drivers.

Tristan Hall, Aldwickbury Park General Manager, said: "Our members are a fun loving group and decided to do something a little out of the ordinary to welcome their new captain and they certainly managed that. Once again they also dug deep into their pockets and raised money for their chosen charity, which they will continue to do throughout the year."

The new captains and their vice captains Eric Diment and Sue Hattam have chose Mid-Herts YMCA as their charity of the year and are hoping to eclipse the £8,100 members raised over the course of last year for Macmillan Cancer Support.
